

“Children as a rule have different desires at any particular moment, and one keeps busy at one thing and another at another without quarrelling. In this way they are engaged in an admirable social life full of activity. In peaceful delight the children solve by themselves the various social problems which their free and many-sided activities create from time to time. An educational influence is diffused throughout the whole environment, and both children and teacher have a role to play in it.”

Maria Montessori, The Discovery of the Child, Page 65

LEARN MORE AT MONTESSORI150.ORG

—Pioneering Woman | Global Social Impact—