

“Observation of the work of others becomes increasingly frequent, as if it were a spontaneous "comparative" study between the child himself and his companions; or as if an active interest in the contemplation of the external surroundings were developing: the period of discovery. We may say that the child studies himself in his own productions and puts himself into communion with his companions and his environment.”

Maria Montessori, The Advanced Montessori Method Volume I, Page 81

LEARN MORE AT MONTESSORI150.ORG

—Pioneering Woman | Global Social Impact—